4 SUGAR SELLERS ARRESTED

PRICE PLOT CHARGED BY U. S.

Boston Brokers Accused of "Handling" Product to Evade Law; Expect More Arrests

Four Boston sugar brokers, charged with conspiracy in obtaining unreasonable prices, were arrested by Federal officers today.

At the same time it was stated that one more arrest would be made in this city, and two in Burlington, Vt.

The men arrested were Israel Butstein, treasurer of the Market Warehouse Company, Farnsworth street; Louis M. Kortis, Clinton street; Morris A. Levine of Clinton street, and Harry Lesbner of Harrison avenue.

They were held in $500 each for a hearing June 16. Bail was furnished by Simon Swig.

The men are charged with selling and reselling 40,000 pounds of sugar, purchased from the Revere Sugar Refining Company, in order to evade the regulation limiting retailers to two cents a pound profit. The sugar was said to have been purchased on May 1 at 19 cents, and "handled" until the price was raised to 27 cents and the sugar disposed of in New York.

The cases of the Revere Sugar Refining Company, American Sugar Refining Company, Independent Sugar Company, Henry E. Worcester, vice-president of the Revere Company, and Woodward K. Green, general manager of the America company, charged with profiteering, were again continued to June 18.

Local agents of the department of Justice announced that no further instructions had been received in regard to the sugar rationing plan which is to go into effect throughout the country on June 21.

Governor Coolidge, on State House steps, praising Lieutenant Francis G. Jenkins on the appearance of the High School Cadets.

Five thousand Boston High School Cadets held their annual parade and review today.

The schoolboy soldiers, headed by the Sixth Regiment, in command of Cadet Colonel F. L. Tibbetts, formed at the English High School on Montgomery street, and with right file and drum corps paraded through the Back Bay and through downtown streets to the Common, where they were put through drills.

Following the sixth regiment was the seventh, comprised of students of the High School of Commerce, in charge of Cadet Colonel Julius Rosengard, the eighth regiment, High School of Commerce, under Cadet Colonel Edward J. Manley; first, English High, Cadet Colonel A. P. Bearson; second, Boston Latin, Cadet Colonel L. S. King; third, English High, Cadet Colonel Philip Cohen; fourth, Dorchester High, E. F. Pelton; fifth, Brighton, West Roxbury and Hyde Park High schools, Cadet Colonel Raymond Duffey.

Passing up School street, the boys were reviewed by Acting Mayor James Donovan, and, passing the State House, they were reviewed by Governor Coolidge.

At the Common the parades marched before the members of the school committee, Superintendent Frank V. Thompson and the military instructors, Colonel Georg H. Benyon, Majors Charles A. Ranlett and George S. Penney and Lieutenant James M. Driscoll.

Two of the marchers were overcome by the heat and were treated by members of the Red Cross. The boys were Jacob Lucey of the English High and Thomas Hanley of the South Boston High.

Later four others, Michael Meddis, Edward Foley, Edward Lakin and Timothy Feeney, were overcome on the Common.

Auto Salesman Drowned Himself in Fellsway; Was Discouraged by $2,000 Debt

The search for Herbert W. Peckham, missing Medford auto salesman, ended today with the discovery of his body floating in Dark Hollow Pond in the Fellsway.

In clothing strewn along the bank was found a note asking his wife and three children to forgive him for taking his own life, and declaring that he could no longer face financial difficulties. He was said to be $2,000 in debt.

The body was found by Park Policeman O'Toole only a few yards from where Peckham's abandoned automobile was found Tuesday.

Peckham left his home at No. 5 Cudworth street, Medford, early Tuesday, and a few hours later telephoned his wife from Boston that he would be home soon.

GARDNER LOSES TO TOLLEY

Brilliant Young English Golfer Wins British Amateur Title

Muirfield, Scotland, June 11.—Cyril J. Tolley, the most brilliant of the young English golfers, won the British amateur golf championship here today from Robert Gardner of Chicago at the thirty-seventh hole. It was one of the greatest international matches ever contested by amateurs.

The American led Tolley 2 up at the eighteenth. Tolley reversed these figures at the twenty-seventh, where he was 2 up. Then Gardner made another fine effort and the match was all even at the home green. Tolley won the thirty-seventh. The largest gallery which ever turned out in the British Isles trailed the pair.

Tolley is an Oxford University student. He has been startling the British golf world since last Fall, when as a member of his university golf team he accomplished remarkable feats on the links. He is the hardest hitting amateur golfer in the British Isles and has returned cards under par on practically all of the famous courses.

Gardner did better than any other native born American has done in the British amateur championship. He went to England as a member of the rules committee of the U. S. G. A. and decided to take part in the championship at Muirfield. In order to reach the final round he defeated A. Lumsdaine, the best English and Scottish golfers.

It is no light honor to be runner-up for the British title, and Gardner is worthy of the distinction.

'STUBBORN CHILD' WEDS GIRL OF HIS OWN CHOICE

Because Paul Sirianni, a seventeen-year-old boy of Brigham street, East Boston, failed to accede to the wishes of his father and wed the girl picked out for him, he was in East Boston court today charged with being a stubborn child. Judge Barnes found him guilty and filed the case after he learned Paul had taken matters into his own hands and slipped away to Providence, where he married a girl of his own choosing.

CANDIDATES PUT IN NOMINATION

The Coliseum, Chicago, June 11.—Following Governor Henry J. Allen's presentation of the name of General Leonard Wood as the 1920 standard bearer, a wild demonstration broke loose on the floor and in the galleries, continuing for thirty-six minutes.

The Coliseum, Chicago, June 11.—Chairman Henry Cabot Lodge called the Republican National Convention to order at 9:58 a. m., and, after the adoption of a resolution honoring the memory of Theodore Roosevelt, nominating speeches were begun.

It was expected that it would be several hours before a ballot could be taken.

Wood Now 8 to 5; Lowden Next

Speculation in the presidential nomination contest today saw a radical change. Whereas Hiram W. Johnson had been an almost prohibitive favorite he is today a third choice.

Wood is at 8 to 5 favorite, Lowden 3½ to 1.

Johnson is quoted at 7 to 1, though a few wagers have been placed at 8 to 1.

Coolidge and Lodge are next in line, each being quoted at 12 to 1. Sprout, Allen and Hughes are in the next position at odds of 15 to 1. For Hoover and any of the others one may write his own ticket.

DEMAND THAT LODGE STAND BY COOLIDGE

Chicago, June 11.—Folks back home are getting after Senator Lodge. This noon he was handed a telegram signed by 100 of the leading business men of Boston and vicinity urging him to vote for Governor Coolidge from first to last. He received another from business men of Western Massachusetts signed by Horace A. Moses of Springfield, president of the Hampden County Improvement League. But he refuses to unbend to the degree of amending his declaration that he intends to vote for Wood after the second ballot.

SAILOR ENDS LIFE BY PLUNGE INTO SEA

John Campbell, a fireman on the British steamship Highland Enterprise, which arrived today from Liverpool, committed suicide June 4 by jumping into the sea. He disappeared before he could be reached in a small boat. He was an Englishman and had been with the ship for several voyages.

No eleventh hour withdrawals were reported, and it seemed certain that at least a dozen men would figure in the initial balloting for a candidate for President.

Michael Blake, delegate from the 15th district, New York, says sentiment is so badly divided that no one can tell how the New York delegation will stand.

"If any one of us had the nerve to take the lead I think the whole New York delegation would swing to Johnson," Blake said. "We feel very keenly about the expose at Washington."

Mayor James Rolph, Jr., of San Francisco, said: "The situation looks good to me. I think our man (Johnson) will be the nominee."

"The will of the people is going to prevail in this convention, and the people of the United States want Hiram W. Johnson for their next President," declared Senator Borah.

GREAT DEMONSTRATION FOR WOOD SWEEPS CONVENTION HALL

ated that Wisconsin's delegation of twenty-six would swing from La Follette to Johnson after the early balloting.

"LOWDEN AND COOLIDGE."

Fred E. Sterling of the Illinois delegation told the newspapermen that a deal was on to make the ticket "Lowden and Coolidge."

Fred W. Upham of Illinois said: "We will nominate today sure. I think it will take about three ballots to eliminate Wood. Then Lowden will be nominated."

W. W. Atterbury of Pennsylvania, one of Governor Sproul's boomers, declared: "If we can hold our own today Governor Sproul will be the leading candidate for the nomination tomorrow morning."

It was made known that Senator Calder of New York was handling a trading agreement between the Pennsylvania delegates and some thirty or more of the eighty-eight New York delegates.

It was said Calder was pledged to swing all the New York support he could to Sproul in case the Pennsylvanian seemed to have a real chance of getting the nomination.

The prayer today was by Rev. Johnstone Myers of Chicago, who asked that the God of Lincoln and of Roosevelt look down on and guide this gathering.

ALLEN NAMES GENERAL WOOD.

When the roll of States was called, Arizona yielded to Kansas, and Governor Henry J. Allen of the latter State placed General Leonard Wood in nomination in a brilliant speech. He said in part:

"The American soldier is a citizen soldier. Leonard Wood holds fast to the traditions of the great citizen soldiers of the republic.

"A plain, blunt man, with blunt beliefs in facts, he is today the best known American. No candidate for high office has ever gone to the people of this nation with soul and mind so frankly revealed as Leonard Wood.

"No endeavor of his life presents in truer colors his calm and steady strength than the work at Gary. It was the old quarrel that took shape there—the struggle between those who hire and those who toil, the only form of civil strife which government still allows to menace a helpless public. He carried to that district the guarantee of fair play.

"He could have 'Passed the Buck.' He had been advised not to go to Gary. He was told the situation was full of dynamite. He could have sent a subordinate, but he went in person and dominated the situation by the force of absolute justice.

WON PEOPLE'S CONFIDENCE.

"Not a shot was fired or a bayonet used. Here, as twenty years before in Cuba, he gained the confidence of a people in trouble.

"Again at Omaha, in the race riots in West Virginia, in the labor troubles, he visualized not military power but the peculiar determination which should be always the American pledge to protect the rights of all by firm and righteous government.

"As President he will not seek to create for himself a neutral background out of mediocre men. The nation will have that to which the people are entitled in its councils—the united brain power of real leadership.

"What we do here cannot be recalled for new consideration.

"The magic finger has touched and having writ 'Moves on, nor all your piety nor wit shall lure it back to cancel half a line, Nor all your tears wash out a word of it.

"If we make a mistake today the great party may lose its major importance to the republic.

"With full appreciation of the challenge of the hour, I present the name of the man who fits the hour, Leonard Wood."

BIG WOOD DEMONSTRATION.

Governor Allen spoke for twenty-five minutes, and as he concluded a great demonstration for General Wood swept the convention hall. Thousands of feathers, let loose from the roof, flooded the Coliseum. After the Wood demonstration had continued for ten minutes Chairman Lodge rapped for order.

He was unable to make any impression on the Wood shouters, and the tumult of enthusiasm continued.

The demonstration for Wood was led largely by the Kansas and Delaware delegates. In the centre of the convention the Pennsylvania and New York delegates sat quietly.

If the size of the Wood ballie is indicated by the delegates who stood and waved flags and yelled after Allen had put the general's name before the convention, the number will be around 300.

Banners bearing the words, "It's Wood. Let's Go," were waved aloft by the cheering delegates.

Led by the Kansas delegates, a procession was started around the hall, through the choked aisles and seated delegates. Flags were waved aloft, Apache yells went up in staccato barks.

After thirty-six minutes, Chairman Lodge succeeded in restoring order.

Mayor Frank Knox of New Hampshire and Mrs. Douglas Robinson of New York seconded General Wood's nomination.

Arkansas yielded to Illinois, when the collicall was resumed.

LOWDEN EULOGIZED.

William A. Rodenberg, of Illinois nominating Governor Frank O. Lowden, said:

"He stands for law and order and constitutional government. Of fine legal mind and training, with both legislative and executive experience, he believes in re-establishing the powers and prerogatives of every branch of the Federal government as set forth by the Fathers of the Constitution itself and he is unalterably opposed to executive usurpation of any legislative or judical function.

"He typifies more than any one of the distinguished gentlemen who will be placed in nomination before this convention the great, vital issue of economy in the administration of public affairs.

"He is in full accord with the true spirit of America which still prefers the nationalism of Theodore Roosevelt to the internationalism of Woodrow Wilson. He believes that sovereignty of the United States must be kept free and inviolate from European influence or dictation and that, while maintaining a friendly attitude toward all nations we owe it to those who have gone before and to those who are to follow us to enter into partnership with none.

"We present the patriotic Governor of a patriotic State, Frank Orren Lowden."

DROP in the price of Silks. The wholesale dress business for the past two or three months has been very poor on account of the cool weather. The majority of manufacturers had large stocks of silks on hand. On top of this came the substantial drop in the price of silks. There was only one thing for these manufacturers to do, and that was to get from under as quickly as possible, even if at a loss. Some manufacturers are disregarding what they paid for silks, and it seems to be their only idea to convert their stocks into money. A manufacturer from whom we buy many of our very best models in Misses' Dresses was willing to make up for us 150 Dresses in satin and taffeta. These dresses usually retail for about 35.00 and 39.50. We were able to purchase these so that we can now sell them as low as 19.00. We consider them among the best values in dresses we have ever offered at this price. Satin Dresses, blouse of figured Georgette, harem skirt. Taffeta Dresses, side cascade, basque waist. Taffeta Dresses, fichu collar edged with narrow fluting. STOLE GEMS AT POKER PARTY BECAUSE SHE WAS "TEMPTED"

IS 'VICTIM OF CRUEL FRIENDS'

Mrs. Gleason Admits Theft to Mrs. Curry During New York Card Game

New York, June 11.—Mrs. J. C. Gleason, the dashing, stunningly dressed little woman who so volubly and vitriolically threatened to expose a circle of women gamblers of the West End avenue smart set as she was locked into a cell in Jefferson Market Prison, sat, a mute, tearful bit of dejection, before Magistrate Simpson in the West Side Court.

Mrs. Gleason was arraigned on a charge brought by Mrs. Chester M. Curry, wife of a wealthy lumber owner, whose home is at No. 229 West End avenue. On the stand Mrs. Curry testified that Mrs. Gleason had stolen a diamond, onyx and platinum bar pin valued by Tiffany at $1,750, and something more than $200 in currency. The pin and money disappeared from her bedroom the night of May 26 while a "friendly little game of poker" was in session.

Through her attorney, I. F. Platto, No. 261 Broadway, Mrs. Gleason pleaded not guilty and waived examination. The bail of $15,000 imposed upon her at the time of her arrest was reduced to $5,000. This Mr. Platto secured within a short time, and she was released.

OFFERS HER JEWELRY.

Mrs. Gleason, sobbing, took from her wrist a tiny diamond set watch, and handed it with a gold diamond studded mesh bag to the attorney to offer as security for her bail. "Take these," she whispered, "they are all I have."

On the stand Mrs. Curry told of the frequent "friendly little games of poker" in which she and a small circle of friends indulged, and described the evening on which her money and pin disappeared. She said:

"I had met Mrs. Gleason about two months before. She came to my party that night, May 26, though she wasn't invited. I had known all the other ladies present for at least five years and we had been together continuously. I lost $20 and went to get it when I discovered I had been robbed. Next morning I saw the pin was gone.

"No, there were no men present. All of us were ladies.

'JUST TEMPTED.'

"Why do I think it was Mrs. Gleason? Who else could? So, I didn't see her take them. How could I? She left the table to go to my bedroom in which she had put my pin, where my pin was, in a Tiffany box in my bureau drawer. The money was in the chiffonobe drawer.

"Did I see Mrs. Gleason after that? Certainly I saw her the following night and last Saturday at the Pennsylvania Hotel. She said she had taken the pin that night she called. Why, for, goodness knows, she didn't need it, that she was just tempted. She returned the pin. I asked her why she wouldn't admit she'd stolen the money, too, and she said because she hated to tell me that. She thought maybe I wouldn't be so hard on her if she just told me about the pin."

Of the poker players and the parties Mrs. Gleason said:

"They would meet first at one women's house and then another. The parties lasted until very late in the morning sometimes. I was warned not to go into the game. I know what's back of this charge. I know that they want to get rid of me if they can.

"Oh, it is horrible to think women can do these things to one another. Oh, that hideous night in jail! I could not close my eyes. I feel so humiliated and crushed and sick."

Reading Girl Elopes With Rich Tech Boy

Mrs. Garvon Bawden, formerly Miss Helen Frederick of Reading.

Technology's most popular student and prominent athlete, Garvon "Mick" Bawden, son of Michigan's "Copper King," has eloped. The details of his sudden marriage to Miss Helen Henderson of Reading, former war worker and amateur dramatic, whom he met at a college prom two years ago, have just been learned.

Bawden, president of his class, whom the college year book announces as the most popular student at Technology, called at the Henderson home, No. 129 Woburn street, Reading, Wednesday and enthusiastically talked over the "ball game" which he and Miss Henderson would attend next day.

The girl left home with a suit case, supposed to contain clothing suitable for her appearance at a dance after the ball game and entering Bawden's waiting automobile hurried to Winchester to be married.

The party drove to the residence of the Rev. Murray W. Dewart of the Epiphany Episcopal Church, in Winchester. Miss Henderson insisted on being married in the church, and the wedding party entered the edifice where the ceremony was performed.

Byer Acted as best man, and Dr. and Mrs. Harper as witnesses, the bride being unattended.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride called her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Charles R. Henderson, on the telephone, announcing her marriage and informing her mother that she would return home after a honeymoon of about ten days.

WomenSayBabyShould Not Be Born in Prison

No woman who is a prospective mother should be sent to prison. That is the opinion of two Boston women consulted in regard to the sentence imposed upon young Pearl Odell of New York State.

Mrs. Odell has been sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary for inciting her husband to kill the man who before her marriage betrayed her. In the opinion of Mrs. True Worthy White of the League of Women Voters and Mrs. Marie Ewing Faelten, president of the Professional Women's Club, Pearl Odell should not become a mother in prison. Motherhood, they affirm, is more to be considered than a year of the sentence. On the other hand, Miss Stone Blackwell and Dr. Evangeline Young think that being born in prison would not harm the baby.

Mrs. Faelten points out:

"I think it is too terrible—the thought of a little innocent baby being born in prison. It is not right to visit the sins of the fathers upon the children. That baby was not responsible for the crimes committed before its birth. Therefore, I think that for the sake of the baby they should not do this to the mother."

Mrs. White agreed with Mrs. Faelten. "A fair civilization," said she, "truly devoted to child welfare, would give a child every possible advantage, no matter what its parents had done before its birth. I would be the last one to wish to see the power of the courts corrupted, but it does seem to me that a wise society might parole the mother till the child is born."

Dr. Evangeline Young, specialist in women's diseases, said:

"This is a very hard procedure. I am sure that the people who have made this decision would never have done so without great justification. We must remember that it is necessary for society to protect all concerned."

Miss Stone Blackwell agreed. "I do not believe in letting people who have committed murder, or incited to murder, off without the sentence the court, in its grave decision, has pronounced," said she.

$2,000 SWINDLE CHARGED

'Chain Store' Promoter Defaults When Complainants Go to South Boston Court

An alleged $2,000 swindle which rivals a Conan Doyle story was aired in South Boston Court today.

Russell Williams of No. 29 Sherman avenue, Nahant, was the defendant in the case. He was conspicuous by his absence and was declared a defaulter.

The complainants, of whom there are thirteen, were present in force. They told a highly interesting story of Mr. Williams' unusual business methods, which alternately amazed and amused the court.

Williams represented himself as local representative of a chain store system with headquarters in New York, according to the complainants. He said his firm was going to open stores here, and to lend color to his story opened "headquarters" in a vacant store building on West Broadway, South Boston. Then he started recruiting managers for the stores to be opened. He had hired thirteen of these managers, accepting a $150 bonus from each for his influence, when one of them became suspicious and called in the police.

The chain store system, the police say, has no existence outside the fertile brain of Mr. Williams.

PERKINS SENT TO SANITARIUM

Former Bull Moose Financial Backer on Verge of Mental Collapse

Stamford, Ct., June 11—George W. Perkins, former financial backer of the Bull Moose party, is on the verge of complete mental collapse at the Stamford Hall sanitarium.

While he is at present a voluntary inmate, it is known that, if his condition becomes worse he will be legally committed to an institution.

News of the condition of the former Bull Moose "angel" was jealously guarded until his nervous trouble threatened to become something worse and it was necessary to make plans for his committment.

Overwork and worry are responsible for the breakdown, according to Mr. Perkins' son, George W., Jr., of New York.

The son denied that the financier was becoming violent, although admitting that it might be necessary to have him confined.

Mr. Perkins' breakdown is said to have been hastened by an attack of pneumonia while he was on Y. M. C. A. duty in France.

He is being effectively protected from well meaning friends by ambitious guards. His companions report difficulty in keeping his mind off the political events now surging forward, however.

Nicolas Caruso to Stand Trial in Death of Watchman Found Dead in Fire Ruins

The June session of the Middlesex Grand Jury reported today to Judge O'Connell. Among the indictments returned were true bills against Nicholas Caruso, charged with murdering John C. Monahan and William Volk, proprietors of an automobile repair establishment, who are alleged to have stolen $25,000 worth of parts from the Ford factory in Cambridge.

GAY LIFE KILLED PRINCESS

Paris and Its Pleasures, Also Lost Love, Too Much for Frances Respigliosi

Paris, June 11.—Mad to "the life that kills," a hectic existence in fevered Paris, the beautiful Princess Frances Respigliosi, seventeen years old, daughter of Princess Marie Hendricks, who was formerly Marie Reed of Washington, D. C., is dead.

It was reported the youthful Princess died of a broken heart, as well as from the frenzied life she led, because of the suicide last week of Alfredo Allegheretti, a young Italian millionaire, who had been refused the Princess' hand in marriage.

The body of the girl was brought to Paris from the place near here where she had been taken by her mother following Allegheretti's death. Funeral services, attended by large numbers of friends of the Princess, were held in the Church of Madeleine.

While physicians, headed by Edmund Gros, an American doctor who holds the secrets of most of the wealthy expatriates of Europe, probed the medical reasons for the girl's death. A statement in several of the newspapers declared that her end must have been due to love of young Allegheretti. The Italian millionaire aviator killed himself last week when the Princess Marie refused to permit his marriage to her daughter.

It was conceded by those best in authority to know the inner facts surrounding the tragedy, however, that the princess' death is but another of those fatalities incident to the "riotous never-sleep night life" of Paris, to which they say she was an unwilling victim.

COOLIDGE MAY GO IN ON FIFTH

Name to Be Offered, According to Present Plans; Deal With Lowden Waits

By CHARLES O. POWER.

Chicago, June 11.—Strenuous efforts were made before the opening of the convention to win the support of the Coolidge forces for Lowden, on the promise of Lowden support for Coolidge for second place.

The advances were not received with favor, but in spite of that the Lowden men made it known that they preferred the Massachusetts governor as a running mate for the Illinois candidate.

Coolidge will be placed in nomination, it looks now, late in the afternoon session. The order of nominations puts him fifth, with Wood, Johnson, Du Pont and Lowden preceding him.

The plank on the league and treaty is considered a thorough licking for Murray Crane. Lodge is given credit for "mellowing" in order to save a break in the party.

Coolidge delegates are sorer than ever at Lodge because he has again announced he is a free agent and will vote for Wood when he feels like it.

COOLIDGE SEES PROSPERITY

Tariff Revision, as Planned, Will Promote Economic Welfare, Says Governor

Governor Coolidge, in a statement today regarding the action of the Republican National Convention on the League of Nations and tariff questions, said:

"No man is bigger than his party. I delegated whatever authority I had over the making of a platform to the National Republican Convention. I believe their decisions have been wise and sound. They have met and solved the treaty and league question in a way that will assure party solidarity.

"It points out an adequate method of joining together the nations of the earth to secure justice and peace without violating the fundamental principles of American independence.

"They have recognized that American conditions have changed since the present tariff law was enacted, and decided for a revision. That revision will be made on the protective principle with the fact in mind that we are a creditor nation, and also that protection means now not only the economic welfare of the people employed in our industries, but the military necessities of the whole nation.

"Hereafter protection will be both economic and military, seeking prosperity and adequate protection of every material that goes into the national defense.

DEMANDS LIQUOR STOLEN FROM POLICE BE RETURNED

Haverhill, June 11.—Prohibition Enforcement Officer George J. Christie has demanded a hearing before the Municipal Council to fix the blame for the theft of securities, quarts of whiskey and wine from the store room at the police station where it was left for safe keeping by the Federal officers. The liquor was taken in a raid on the home of Mike Anderson, a former liquor dealer. Anderson was found not guilty and discharged by Commissioner Hayes in Boston and now demands the return of his liquors.

Filene's—Where dollars go farther

THOSE of you who can recall 30 years ago, will remember that almost the first time you heard Filene's spoken of, it was as "that little store on Winter Street where you get such good values." That little store was rapidly outgrown because the word that "your dollars went farther at Filene's" went the 'round amongst New England folks. That was the foundation upon which building after building was built. It is the foundation upon which we are building today more strongly and more quickly than ever. The constant succession of new goods "just bought at lower price levels" (of which you see a few examples below and of which you will see many more evidences as you go through the store) is not an exception to, but rather simply a carrying-on of the Filene policies which built this business.

ACTRESS SEES CHANGE IN HUB

Georgia Caine, Youthful "Mother" in "Mary," Says She's Back to Stay

By FRED J. McISAAC.

If you should trip over a head bag or stub your toe on a jade earring, or should you find anything of value lying around loose, it probably belongs to Georgia Caine of the "Mary" company at the Tremont Theatre, so do the honest thing.

Miss Caine has been constantly losing things since she has been in Boston, averaging one drop per week. She hasn't decided what she will lose next week, a diamond lavaliere, a pearl necklace or a line or two of her part. It's sure to be something worth while, but she hopes it won't or anything worse than an embrace by Charlie Judels when he has been eating garlic.

TIME RESTS LIGHTLY.

In "Mary" Miss Caine plays the mother of Jack, the hero who makes a fortune in oil wells. She is the best looking mother seen on the stage in this vicinity for a very long time. All the Georgia Caine admirers who dropped a tear when they heard she was doing "mother roles" need not waste their sympathy. Georgia wears the flossiest costumes in the whole show and hasn't changed, except for the better, since she played in "Peggy from Paris" twenty years ago—darn it, how time flies.

For very nearly ten years Miss Caine was off the stage, having married and retired. But she came back for a short time last season, accepted a part in "Mary" and now she says the theatre has got into her blood again and she thinks she will stick in the game.

"It seems to me that Boston has changed a great deal in the last decade," said Miss Caine. "Once you could tell a Bostonian anywhere by his dress and his manner. Now you can't tell him from anybody else, even by his speech. I noticed it in the audiences. Years ago I used to know most everybody in the first ten rows by sight and there were numbers of men who would come to every performance of a musical show. Now I don't know a soul when I look into the auditorium."

Our conversation was interrupted by a bang at the dressing-room door, and something funny in a green suit breezed in. It was Judels, the comedian, who plays opposite Miss Caine.

A MISSING ACTOR.

"Ah!" he exclaimed in his regulation stage accent, flourishing, bowing and winding up by plastering a kiss on the back of her hand.

"Monsieur, you are giving the write-up to my leetle Georgie. Tell se public she is the dearest, sweetest, most wonderful woman in the world and I lof her."

"Speak English, Charles, we all have your number, and clear out of my interview," said Miss Caine regarding him with the same look she would give a sambolling puppy.

"Oh, all right," replied Judels, "I was only trying to help you out."

"Help yourself out," said Joe Vion, the press agent, who is built like John L. Sullivan about thirty years after he fought Corbett.

"Mon ami," screamed Judels. Whereupon he put his arms around poor Joe's neck and implanted a hearty smack upon his cheek. Vion behaved as Marlowe does in the show when Judels embraces him, only he was serious. In the confusion I made a rapid exit. For which I tender my apologies to Miss Caine here and now. But the place wasn't safe.

HARGE REALTY PLOT AT QUINCY

S. Housing Corporation Jumps Prices to Aid Jugglers, Say Tenants

Is the United States Housing Corporation at Quincy lending itself to a profiteering realty juggling?

Tenants of the corporation at a mass meeting assert that it is, and ve taken preliminary measures to ock any attempt by the corporation dispose of their homes.

The corporation, it is said, goes out business July 1.

For the past few weeks it has been fering the houses built in Quincy bring the war to tenants at what ley term prohibitively high prices.

ANT $66 PER MONTH.

Those prices vary from $4,500 to ,500 per house. The terms of payent are 10 per cent. down and eighths of one per cent. per month. would take fourteen years or more r a tenant to finish paying for his use under these terms.

Instead of paying from $24 to $33 nt per month as now, in order to pay the carrying expenses each tenant would have to pay from $35 to $66 per month, or even more.

There are 417 families dwelling in houses remodelled or built by the housing corporation.

Of this number only one has agreed to purchase property under these terms. This man lives in a house simply remodelled by the corporation, and said to be the only real bargain of the lot.

Tenants say that if they do not buy the houses—and they declare they do not intend to—they will be sold en bloc to some realty syndicate at a much smaller figure than that now quoted. They are convinced that this syndicate will jump the rents.

PLEDGE FUND TO WAGE FIGHT.

The 417 families, the majority of whom work in the neighboring shipyards, say they face eviction or will be forced into undertaking a burden too big for them to carry.

H. E. Sharpe, president of the Tenants' Association, is in charge of the fight to stop the corporation from selling the houses. By vote of the members of the association all of its funds have been turned over to him to spend in fighting for the homes of the 417 families.

RAYMOND'S

Which Would You Rather

Pay 4.00, 20% off, or 2.00 nothing off for the same Hat?

One of the largest straw hat manufacturers in the country was in here the other day (when the building was most ready to bust with people buying straw hats) an he said "No wonder they're after em. A friend came into my place a few days ago with a Hat he had just bot at a big N. Y. Department store where a twenty per cent discount sale was going on an paid $4.00 20% off and it was the same Hat you have marked $2.00." The feller who spends a lot of money for glaring ads. simply to give you something for nothing is usually a dangerous Duck and you don't hafter go to New York to findem either. You get nothing here that you don't pay something for and you pay for nothing here you don't get. These are only two of the many reasons why Raymond's is different.

Auto Drunks Increase; 14 Lose Licenses

State Registrar Frank A. Goodwin has revoked the licenses of fourteen motorists recently convicted in court of operating while under the influence of liquor.

The registrar declares the use of liquor by motorists in this State is on the increase, in spite of the prohibition laws. The records of the Registry of Motor Vehicles show that during the month of May, 1915, there were forty-five court convictions of drunken operators, whereas for May, 1920, the records show forty-six such convictions.

During the first ten days of June, this year, there have been no less than twenty-seven motorists found guilty of the same offence, which will mean a much larger number for the whole month, notwithstanding prohibition and the heavy penalties for driving while intoxicated.

'TORIES' SCORED BY IRISH HEAD

Claim Many Boston Ulstermen Are Joining Freedom Society —To Answer Coalition

That the recent election of Sinn Feiners in Belfast, Ireland, and the defeat of Carson's followers indicates the feeling of the people of that section of the Emerald Isle for independence and has resulted in large numbers of Ulstermen in this country joining the Friends of Irish Freedom, says a statement issued today by James M. d. Fay, former Deputy Consul General from the United States to Belgium and leader of the Irish independence movement.

"The Massachusetts Protestant friends of Ireland were very much enthused over the stand taken by the Rev. James C. Mythen of Baltimore, who stated that both Protestants and Catholics of Irish extraction are in agreement as to the right of the parent country to self-government," said Fay, who is organizer of the Protestant Friends of Irish Freedom.

"The membership of our organization is growing steadily. What is remarkable is the great number of Protestants from Ulster who have joined us since the recent election in Belfast. Our influence will soon be brought forcibly to every Protestant home, when the truth about the religious issue in Ireland will be known. That issue does not exist today except in the rabid propaganda of the English paid agents and press.

"The disloyal stand towards America taken by the Tories who have spent unlimited sums in advertisements in the American papers, has opened the eyes of many, who no longer wonder where the money to pay for those advertisements must have come from. We intend to answer these Tories and the Loyal Coalition at a mass meeting of the Protestant friends of Irish Freedom to be held in Boston shortly, arrangements for which are now under way."

The Galway team and Tipperary team will try conclusions at 4 p. m. and an hour later the Cork and Leincester teams will fight it out for honors.

The Mayo team will meet tonight at 8:30 in Deacon Hall, No. 1651 Washington street, South End, for the registration of players and the election of permanent officers to direct the team work.

Action of English "Sons of Empire" Causes Talk of Closing Sessions

By International News Service.

Montreal, June 11—Rumors that the Imperial council, sons of the Empire, an organization of prominent English-Canadians, plans a blacklist campaign against Canadian trades unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor because of the resolution demanding recognition of the Republic of Ireland, today brought threats of the withdrawal of the convention from this city.

These threats were made by the Irish sympathizers who have been making allegations that British influences maneuvered to bring the convention to Canada to further British propaganda.

The Irish forces are planning to elect Timothy Healy, president of the International Union of stationary firemen and engineers, and known as a "Fire eating Irish sympathizer," as a delegate to the British trade union Congress.

Many delegates today expressed indignation over the labor plank adopted by the Republican convention at Chicago. Daniel Tobin of Indianapolis, treasurer of the Federation, predicted a third party movement by organized labor if the Democrats at San Francisco did not adopt a plank more favorable to labor.

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas On Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble are, modest authorities, are due often times not to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic acid stomach is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one or two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them that irritate the stomach and lead to gas and sour risings or they can eat as they please to relish and make a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas and other premature fermentation. The use of a little Bisurated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better safer or more reliable remedy than Bisurated Magnesia and it is a favorite used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestant but a neutralizer of the acid. Just a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water in the food will neutralize the excess acid which may be present and prevent its further formation, relieve the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of pepsin pills or artificial digestants.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. In powder form a teaspoonful in water after meals is the usual form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on what to eat.

WATSON ANGERS ERIN'S FRIENDS

Forcing a Tie in the Vote on Irish Republic Plank Is Resented

By EDWARD F. McSWEENEY.

Chicago, June 11. [illegible] notice on each person of the Republican convention decisively defeated the resolution favoring the adoption of Ireland which gave it force under peculiar conditions.

A resolution favoring the quest on of Irish independence, drawn by Judge Cohalan leader of the American Irish organization of the Friends of Irish Freedom, was agreed to by a sub-committee by a vote of 4 to 3. Senator Watson of Indiana casting the deciding vote.

The resolution favored recognition of the principle that the people of Ireland have the right to determine freely, without duress or compulsion, their own governmental institutions and their place and relations with other States and other peoples.

Another resolution, presented by Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the commission on Irish freedom, and who is here with President de Valera, did not differ in principle, but was more calculated to raise antagonism was defeated in sub-committee 12 to 1.

When the full committee met, headed by Watson, a typical Indiana politician and a stalwart, cancelled his vote, pending the resolution into the general committee as a tie.

The fight in the committee for the Cohalan resolution was ably and earnestly led by Senator Borah, supported by Louis A. Coolidge of Massachusetts and Senator McCormick of Illinois.

The fight against it was led by the Mormon senator from Utah, Smoot, supported by State Senator Mills of New York, who is, incidentally, the brother-in-law of a British Peer—Lord Grenard.

Senator Warren acting first in favoring and then in abandoning the resolution is bitterly resented.

MERCHANDISE UP TO STANDARD

"I Am Glad You Have Improved My Old Store!"

A BOSTON WOMAN who has been a Hovey patron for more than twenty years made the remark quoted above a few days ago after she had made a critical tour of several of our enlarged and improved departments.

"I was afraid," she went on to say, "that in modernizing this store you would depart from the old Hovey standards. But I find you have simply extended them. The merchandise is as good as ever, prices as reasonable or more so. And it is much easier to find what I want, now that stocks are larger and more varied. I am going to tell all my friends about you!"

Such happy recommendations as this are coming to our ears every day—and every day we shall see to it that we are more and more worthy of them.

Hearst says in a message to a picked convocation for all he newspapers:

"A parasite at length becomes incapable of independent action, and the Republican party has hung on to the big interests for so many years, draining its blood money from them, that it cannot [illegible] and [illegible] doesn't dare to make an independent appeal to the citizenship it should serve."

Possibly Hearst underrates the lasting powers of the parasite, and the feebleness of the vigorous creature from which it depends.

Reading over again Lubbock's interesting books on the ants he will observe that the worker ants neglect the needful work of their parasites' young, and that even the queens care for them from little domestic animals, sweet juices [illegible]

The parasite ants live on certain [illegible] have been [illegible] another race [illegible] alive, believe that they get inspiration and leadership from them.

QUESTION FOR TODAY.

Today's question is do the hundred millions of workers of this country [illegible] and will they continue taking care of the parasite?

Parasitic political parties and parasitic [illegible] that take care of the [illegible] parasites.

It is ten minutes past opening and [illegible] have prayed for [illegible] on the way to the speeches [illegible] as soon so, let us discuss a parasite that calls the Hearst's democratic [illegible] Republican party.

The parasite crab that Darwin found [illegible] living in the deep [illegible] didn't want an inch of it [illegible] having a superb [illegible] of flesh [illegible]

There he lives, in [illegible] retirement in the white house [illegible] brought forth only on state [illegible] occasions.

CRAB LIKE THE G. O. P.

That [illegible] a parasite crab, free from mental worry removed from the struggle for existence, under the left flipper of his wife [illegible] the Republican candidate that would be nominated [illegible] safe and warm under a [illegible] of [illegible] soap eating freely of [illegible] fat and brought out from time [illegible] on rare occasions, to sign [illegible] to something [illegible]

If Andrew Jackson and Thomas Jefferson were here they might ask, "What about me? Now when was God a strictly Republican?"

The [illegible] chairman prays that [illegible] sound reverence be kept out of the contest. Probably he has not read the words [illegible] Somebody from Pennsylvania offers a resolution in honor of Roosevelt's memory. Strangely enough the name of Roosevelt does not get a cheer when first pronounced. But there comes a big cheer when Lodge says [illegible] at eight minutes past ten. The real business in the nomination of candidates for the nomination. That really is business, as subsequent proceedings will show. Arizona [illegible] Kansas." Allen presents [illegible] Wood.

Now [illegible] gets up in the Kansas [illegible] Allen calls for [illegible] Allen [illegible] seemed to respect [illegible] Lodge [illegible] and walks out from a seat just behind Lodge.

ALLEN LACKS MAGNETISM.

Mr. Allen has a nose like de Valera, head in shape and baldness like Nicholas, he wears a bob-tailed black coat, talks with his hands behind his back, [illegible] a figure slouchy, [illegible] [illegible] and doesn't [illegible] a damn.

He [illegible] Abraham Lincoln right [illegible] helps him get a [illegible] Without doubt mention [illegible] nor Coolidge.

Now you are hearing that the candidate whose name, of course, is [illegible] until the end went to Cuba with Roosevelt and did wonderful things at Santiago. Again and Allen seems surprised for the [illegible] minute: there are no cheers for the Roosevelt name.

Allen winds himself up like a base ball pitcher as he gets ready to hurl the magic abracadabra formula [illegible] deeds without words. [illegible] was, and the applause [illegible] one.

General Wood may get [illegible] luck with Mr. Allen, but he didn't get a great ovation.

And in case they nominate Wood then will find it did quite a number Mr. Allen on [illegible] audiences. Mr. Allen is the gentleman who says that a woman may strike until he gets ready to let them.

LINKS WOOD WITH ROOT

Now nineteen minutes past ten Mr. Allen mentions the name of Leonard Wood and with exquisite tact ties it up with the name of Elihu Root. If once general Wood [illegible] for his nomination on the platform [illegible] that Allen aroused he won't get it.

VICE PRES. THOS. R. MARSHALL

The people of Indiana are for Vice-President Marshall as a good deal more than a favorite son and are supporting him for the Democratic presidential nomination because they believe he possesses the qualities that will make him a popular candidate. They believe that Mr. Marshall was made Governor of Indiana and elected Vice-President because of his personality and not because of the political organization behind him.

Mr. Marshall's engaging personality has won him many friends in both the great political parties. His life, both public and private, is the good reproach. He stands in public questions just from the standpoint of the nation. The world's "equal and exact justice to all" and special privileges to none are relevant when used by Mr. Marshall. An Governor of Indiana he [illegible] record and his ability [illegible] is proved by both Democrats and Republicans.

IS WIDELY POPULAR.

The nomination of Mr. Marshall would have a sure appeal and electing effect. The people in the Republican party are [illegible] as greatly to encourage this [illegible] nate. The Bull Moose Republicans [illegible] to be fair to [illegible] the Democratic [illegible] as [illegible] pointed by [illegible] and themselves. The fight between [illegible] guard and [illegible] and the [illegible] of General Wood has left a [illegible] which is [illegible] case to unite. The [illegible] among have been great [illegible] nation of [illegible] as Democratic candidate [illegible].

The problem in [illegible] primary [illegible] shows even better Indiana as [illegible] status as a [illegible] State. In [illegible] when for some reason [illegible] as planned, the State was practically abandoned by the National committee, the primary for Hughes was [illegible] 6462. The nomination of Marshall would [illegible] enthusiasm in the Democratic party and [illegible] the leadership of Marshall and Taggart [illegible] create a [illegible] that would [illegible] to place the doubtful State Democratic.

(Tomorrow—Senator Hitchcock.)

The following article is by a woman in politics in Indiana, who knows the Vice-President so well that she refers to him with real Hoosier affection as "Little Tom-my Marshall." As neighbor and partisan she speaks for him. She is a woman distinguished as one of the framers of the Indiana platform.

MRS. ADELBERT P. FLYNN
Longansport, Indiana.

Beloved of [illegible] Hoosiers, those in years [illegible] Thomas Riley Marshall has the respect and [illegible] of his fellow citizens. A man [illegible] and achievements [illegible] He is an American by birth [illegible] ing education and aspiration [illegible] reputation in his State is the result [illegible] as the nation—a man whose [illegible] ministration as Governor of Indiana in 1908-1912 speaks of constructive government, business ability and [illegible] of purpose.

He with President Wilson has [illegible] to make the last four years a record of unparalleled achievement [illegible] success. He has the courage [illegible] which a man in public [illegible] to be party. He has the personality of charm, dignity of bearing and love of comradeship [illegible] He is [illegible] high and he works [illegible] with them a way [illegible] and [illegible] a time when more [illegible] sacrificed for a common [illegible] lives and the world [illegible] and suffers [illegible] prosperity, he is opposed [illegible] Republican rich and is the advocate [illegible] of the poor man. From a country [illegible] to governor of his State, then [illegible] the position of Vice-President has been a career.

His political motto has been, "Give every man his chance in life, unhampered and unaided by legislative enactment."

Mr. Marshall is a frank, easy-going Hoosier, who laughs at the world and makes others laugh with him. He has been most popular in Washington and very much given to Jeffersonian simplicity. A frank, honest man by any man, who [illegible] brusque & frank, but [illegible] Little Tommy Marshall is recognized where he is best known as a [illegible] who is wise enough to take care [illegible] only of himself but of any of his friends who get into trouble. His fitness for executive position a business ability are unquestioned, a [illegible] his capacity has been demonstrated [illegible] years of public service.

Work of Vanitie in Sail to Windward Surprises Old Seadogs

By CHARLES E. PARKER.

Newport, R. I., June 11.—Even money was the wager as the Resolute and Vanitie, rival candidates in the America cup elimination series, awaited the signal that started them on the sixth race today.

Before the first race the odds were two to one on the Resolute with few takers. When that heat was won by the Herreshoff sloop the odds weighed in even with few takers. Only the most sanguine Vanitie men could see a chance of defeating the Resolute. Vanitie's defeat was as good as over.

But before apparently making the stern same plate of the New York speedster her keen sailing qualities in front of the Resolute's bow has become a familiar sight to Resolute's skipper, afterdeck boss and crew—so much so, in fact that it is said they can spell the Vanitie's name backward as easily as forward—and the end seems not yet.

Vanitie's Work Against Wind Surprises All

The most significant feature of the Vanitie's work in the two races to the Herreshoff sloop steering against the wind. Here the Resolute was considered unbeatable in a windward beat over comparatively short courses, but the Vanitie could ever win the windward leg of a race against her.

Yet that is just what the Vanitie has been doing for the last three days.

The fifth race between the pair developed another thriller for the honors, with the Vanitie flashing across the finish line two minutes and thirty-six seconds in advance of the Resolute, which after the deduction gave the New York sloop the victory by 14 seconds.

The race was over a windward and leeward course of 15 miles, to be sailed over two legs and a beat to the finish. The wind was from the southwest and was blowing a fresh breeze of about 15 miles an hour.

The Vanitie got away to a good start, but the Resolute was ahead at the first mark, 1 minute and 15 seconds. On the run home, and with a broad reach to port and starboard, the sloops changed positions frequently, but on the beat to the finish the Vanitie showed her heels to the Resolute and crossed the line with a lead of 14 seconds.

The summary:

	Start		1st Mark			Finish			Elapsed Time			Corrected Time
	H.	M.	H.	M.	S.	H.	M.	S.	H.	M.	S.	H.	M.	S.
Vanitie	11	00	18	2	45	27	8	43	09	5	42	39

MADDEN IS WINNER OVER YOUNG KANSAS

Freddy Madden of East Boston won from Young Kansas of Providence in the fourth round of the fight at Mechanics' Building last night. Referee Tommy Kilgannon of Medford gave the decision to Madden. Madden's superior boxing and cleverness were the deciding factors. Kansas was the aggressor throughout the bout, but Madden's cleverness and ability to land his punches at will gave him the edge on the Providence boy.

RED SOX OUT TO MAKE CLEAN SWEEP OF THE WHITE SOX SERIES

PENNOCK VS. FABER IN BOX

Chicago, June 1.—Nothing less than a clean sweep was expected on a cocky Red Sox as they went into today's final fuss of the present series. The Bostonians' practice just before the battle was clean-cut and full of "pep," bringing more than one hand from the White Sox rooters.

The fans out here think the fellow who predicted that the Red Sox would finish down in the muck must be an exceptional sort of guy in these days of prohibition, and are wondering how he ever got that way. Most of the loyal in-the-wood rooters are of the opinion that the teams which beat the Boston bunch out will be fighting it out for the pennant, that is, if any team does lead the Harrow can when the ball is rung in October.

Pennock in Box For Red Sox

Manager Barrow picked Herb. Pennock to do the hill work for the Red Sox, while "Kid" Gleason was obliged to fall back on Urban Faber, who most likely would have never been given a chance if the Red Sox had behaved less rudely to his fellows of the Chicago hurling corps during their present stay here.

The Barrow men have played three games against the White Sox and have won them all. Incidentally, the Red Sox have elevated themselves from fifth to third place in the standings and cannot tumble out of the first four within the next two days. This is pretty fair for a club that disposed of one of its star pitchers and the incomparable Babe Ruth.

The third game achievements were noteworthy in that the Red Sox hitters off Chicago hurlers for eighteen hits, most of which were made off Cicotte who pitched the most effective ball in the league last year, with the single exception of Walter Johnson. The Red Sox trimmed Cicotte, Williams and Wilkinson, three of "Kid" Gleason's regular hurlers.

The assault was led by Tim Hendryx, who hooked four singles. He had plenty of assistance. Oscar Vitt subbed at second for Mike McNally and cracked a pair of doubles, both of which figured in run making.

Russell was nicked hard at times. The lad off Chicago batsmen in the first five innings reached first base but the sixth inning was the only time when a pair of hits were combined.

TOMMY RYAN TO DIRECT CARPENTIER IN RING

Syracuse, June 11.—When Georges Carpentier meets Battling Levinsky, light heavy-weight title-holder of this country, in Boston on July 24, Tommy Ryan, a former welter and middleweight champion, will be in Carpentier's corner. Announcement was made here today that Jack Curley, American manager, and Francois Descamps, French manager of Carpentier, had engaged Ryan to help get the great French boxer into condition and handle him when he meets Levinsky.

OLD SHAMROCK TRIAL YACHT READY TO RACE

New York, June 11.—The 23-metre Shamrock trial horse for the Shamrock IV, is now in the water at City Island being fitted with her racing rig for the trial races off Sandy Hook. She may be given a sail stretching spin on Long Island South tomorrow. The Shamrock IV is in dry dock today for scraping and repairing.

BRITISH BUILT SHELLS FOR RIVAL CREWS

New London, Ct., June 11.—The varsity eights of Yale and Harvard will use English built shells in their annual race here June 25.

Both crews, as well as the junior varsity and freshmen eights of the rival universities, were scheduled to take long spins on the Thames this afternoon.

BRAVES STAGE FINE FINISH

Come Through in Fine Style in Ninth Inning Against Pirates

By NICK PLATEL.

The thrill of the fighting spirit has returned to Braves Field, and plenty of excitement and good baseball are getting to be the daily diet. The Pirates have twice been laid low by last ditch drives, and the Braves were anxious to gather in the ultimate fray of the series today.

Those Braves are playing smart and snappy baseball, and will keep right on giving the best of them plenty of contention when a Brave hurler is going along well. It was Fillingim's turn to work today and the spitball genius was due to be back on his regular job.

His arm has finally forgotten all about being sore, and is apparently strong enough to stand the wear and tear of nine tough chapters. It takes good pitching to keep back the Pirates, who swing a flock of mean bludgeons, and imagine they are going to win the pennant.

Long Jack Scott produced another very nifty game and took the large end, 3 to 1. Long Jack has plenty of pitching talent, and he was using all of it. He has recovered from a habit of easing up to get control, and "bends" down on every ball pitched. The Pirates only managed to chop off five hits, and two of them came after the second chapter. After he had warmed to his work, Mister Scott was what they call invincible. The supporting cast was in fine fettle, too, and helped the hurler with many a smooth play. Powell, as a matter of fact, saved the day by clutching Grimm's tremendous liner in the second and starting a double play. Had the ball broken through a pair of runs would have blossomed.

Mexico in Revolution

III. MEXICO'S SORROW (CONTINUED).

Every so often, a small, motionless group of people—the entrance to some theatre or movie show. Beyond them, silence and solitude again! Again that electric-lighted vacuum in which your footsteps echoed as in a tomb.

I found Mexico a very gloomy city.

People who have lived there all their lives assured me that in former times it was not like that. They said that under Diaz this city, which a famous traveler of the era of Spanish rule referred to as the "city of palaces," had a night life as elegant and amusing as any great metropolis in the world.

I am inclined to believe them. In those days there was peace and prosperity, though liberty may not have been so great. People could go out on the streets at night without running very serious risks. But now, after ten years of perpetual upheaval, bad business, and personal insecurity for anyone not connected with the revolutionary profession, how can the capital avoid an appearance of sadness and discouragement?

PUBLIC USED TO DISEASE.

Besides, the old wealthy families which supported the amusements of other days have now been reduced to poverty or—else they have gone abroad into exile far from Mexico. The newly rich are not anxious to display their wealth. They affect very modest ways of living to avoid any questions as to how they may have made so much money in such a very short time.

The worst of it is that the present situation offers no outlook toward better things. People had gotten used to life under Carranza, the way you get used to a disease. He was bad enough, but a new revolution would make things worse. Many optimists believed there would be no more violent overturns of governments. But the present revolution came all the same. And we may be sure it will not be the last. It is an insurrection led by a number of different men for a single presidency. In it are the seeds of several other revolutions, which will follow at greater or lesser intervals of time.

I can imagine all that the faithful inhabitants of Mexico, who never deserted their country, have seen and suffered in these last years. And so I can understand why it is they stick to their homes at night and never go out except for some very urgent reason.

CARBINES SUPPLANT BOOKS.

I do not attach so much importance to those early days of the great Revolution's triumph, when the houses of the rich were pillaged, and libraries and works of art were destroyed. Many revolutions, in the flush of first success, have been marred by episodes like these. The poor native, neglected by everybody, conservatives and liberals alike, had never been sent to school, save to the school of violence. He thought he was within his rights in tearing books to pieces, and burning or selling them. A carbine meant more than a volume in his eyes. The native looks around him in Mexico, and his peasant's insight into things tells him that it is not by reading books that people get to power and rule over other men. He sees that the successful man is the man on a bronco, with a lasso coiled around the horn of his saddle, a rifle slung over his shoulder, and a machete dangling from his fist.

The discouraging thing is that the pardonable initial violence of the Revolution, was followed by the systematic, calculated violences of so-called peace, one act following another like the scenes on a theatre program—cold-blooded outrages like those German militarism planned in Europe to overawe its foes with terror. The peaceful, harmless persons who remained in Mexico lived through all that. It was to escape all that that so many families fled to New York, Los Angeles, Paris, London, or Madrid.

Every triumphant general moved into the house that he liked best; and the domestic instincts of the Mexican guerrillo which blend with his harsh and cruel disposition, were turned loose without any restraint. "This automobile is for the old woman." "This parlor set is just what my Indian has been looking for." That was the case with the German soldiers in the French cities, ordered, but with the preference of their wives and daughters in mind.

When people have been on a visit to some conqueror's mansion in Mexico City, they often go away nudging each other: "Did you notice? That furniture in the dining room used to belong to Bo-and-So." There are women who quite openly wear famous gems given them by their husbands, but which once belonged to other women. The more prudent ones proceed somewhat differently.

A popular actress in Mexico, whose mission it was in recent years to receive love letters from the generals, along with jewels from the booty of revolution, has a goldsmith working for her who does nothing but transform jockey pins into rings and rings into breast pins. In the new form, it will be harder for the original owners of the gems to identify them.

Dandruff Soon Ruins the Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

Stocks Strong in New York; Irregular in Boston; Call Loans Renew at 8%; Markets Are Dull

FORPID TRADING IN BOSTON

Local Speculators Interested Only in Political Convention; Curb Market Quiet

The Boston market had as dull an opening as the exchange's new known this year. But few items were dealt in at the start and the entire movement was trifling for the list in its entirety. About half of the stocks in which there was business transacted changed. Quotations were left unchanged, while commission house affiliues looked for political bulletins. There is more betting at present upon the coming nominees than there is speculation in securities. But local sentiment seemed a little more bullish, strong issues to advance during the forenoon were Swift & Co. Copper, Alaska and Torrington. But Swift & Co. soon lost part of its gain.

Fractionally higher stocks included American Woolen preferred, Island Creek, New Haven, Eastern Manufacturing, Waldorf and Simms Magneto. International Products failed to hold its gain.

Among stocks in reeded fraction here were Edison Electric, American Telephone, National Leather, Parish & Bingham, Mexican Investment, Kelly-Springfield, Manhattan Transit, Tonnelin and Highway. The market was irregular, but most of the active stocks eased off.

SAME OPENING ON CURB.

Like the larger bourses, the Boston Curb was inactive at the outset and during the morning trading remained tame and torpid. There was a semblance of activity for a few mines and oils, including Arizona Silver, Dividend, Gilpoint, Eureka and United Verde Extension. The prime trend was uncertain, although the tone was leaning ques to advance at the opening in United Boston & Montana, Chandler, Gulfport, Manhattan, Universal Smelter and United Verde. Among those to decline were Arizona Silver, Dividend, United Trust and Tilkelon.

By 11 o'clock Arizona Silver was off 2 cents at 47 cents and Eureka 2 cents at 73 cents. Daddy was up ¼ at 2 at United Verde at 19¾.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NOTES.

Among Boston dissolutes attending Calvin Coolidge are Charles Hayden and F. W. Hobbs.

President Clarke E. Woolley of the old Dominion and Arizona Commercial has left Boston to inspect the copper mines of his companies.

No reduction by Butte & Superior was made 100,000 pounds of zinc in concentrates and 150,000 pounds of sulphur last week.

The copper production of Utah for May is estimated at 30,000,000 pounds, little more than fourteen tons a pound and it is understood that the low cost is being maintained in 1920. Its surplus is also estimated to be the rate of 24 a share on the 200,000 outstanding shares.

The Trade Press Company has declared a quarterly dividend on preferred of $1.00 per share, payable July 1st, to stock of record on close of business June 15th.

Articles of agreement of consolidation between the Stafford Wheel Company of Worcester, capital, $500,000; American Piano Corporation of Garfield, capital, $250,000; Fregs Automotive Corporation of Boston, capital $500,000.

Less Demand for Automobiles

According to the Iron Age, there is a decrease in automobile production and it is due in part to a slump in demand for all but the cheaper cars. Men laid off by automobile makers at Detroit have appeared in Chicago's district seeking work at steel plants.

ALCOHOLS KEPT ON CLIMBING

Steels Advance Early and Oils Firm But Quiet

In Second Hour; Rails Firm But Quiet

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were strong in New York at noon, prices being at about the highest level of the morning late in the second hour, when oils came forward. Steels made early gains. Rails remained quiet, but had a firm tone. Alcohols continued to climb, opening with gains and continuing upward. Motors and equipments improved.

The market was dull, only four transactions totaling about 150,000 shares. It was more animated in the last hour of the morning, as Americana, Woolen, Central Leather, Crucible, Lackawanna Steel, Mexican Petroleum and American Sugar led the upturn. Call loans renewed at 8 per cent.

SOME STEELS WERE STRONG.

The market began very quietly and with an advance, early gains varying from fractions to three points. Vanadium and Republic Steel were strong, while Barrett and National Aniline continued to rise. Alcohols made substantial gains, both Industrial Alcohol and Food Products being conspicuous in the advance. It was continuous for half an hour, but the movement was restricted and trading remained placid. Crucible was the strongest speculative steel, equipments were irregular. Studebaker, the most active motor, old participated in the upturn and rails were inactive as a class. A few sold a trifle higher. Wall Streets attention was centered upon the Chicago convention and not upon the stock exchange.

SPECIALTIES TO FORE.

It was characterized as "a specialty market" during the first hour. Interest was confined to a considerable degree upon issues which are seldom dealt in. Stromberg made the biggest advance of any. Lackawanna Steel was more in evidence than usual, and more than two points before midmorning. American Linseed Oil sold materially higher.

Liberty Bonds became quite active and showed price improvement. It is reported that they are being purchased in quantity by savings banks, and that reasonable gains in the latter are withdrawing funds to invest in these government securities.

The reduced dividend of Chicago & Northwestern's dividend rates has united what has looked like the beginning of a strong upward movement in rails. While if damaged carriers in the esteem of the railway labor influence in Washington when the Levedove comes for determining how much transportation rates shall be increased.

Low Price for Copper

Sales of copper at from 18¾ to 18½ cents a pound in New York were reported yesterday. The metal is believed to have been disposed of on Japanese account. Larger selling interests are still asking 19 cents a pound for deliveries to the end of next month and are quoting 20 cents for later shipments. They are understood to be without customers.

Bank Clearings Decrease

Bank clearings in New York are not as large now as they were a year ago. For June 10, 1920, they totalled but $732,946,039 as compared with $874,246,308 on June 12, 1919. This bulker war time activity is slowing up.

Low bids were made for the wool offered by the government at auction in this city yesterday, reflecting the dull market and curtailment of mill activity. For the 40,000 pounds of Montivedo lambs carding 56-58s a bid of 20 cents was made while the government upset price was 40 cents.

BAR SILVER HIGHER, GOVERNMENT TO BUY

The price of bar silver advanced 6 cents to 87 cents an ounce in New York yesterday and went up 2¾d to 48¾d an ounce in London, it being announced in Boston by American Smelting officials that arrangements are being made whereby the U. S. Treasury Department will buy American white metal under the Pittman act at $1 an ounce.

Foreign silver is likely to sell under this figure, as there are large offerings by India and China and it is reported that Germany recently marketed 20,000,000 ounces.

High grade men with selling experience — automobile, insurance, merchandise, etc.—are needed to fill big jobs in connection with the financing of this business now and later in connection with the corporative itself.

Clean-cut personality, unquestioned honesty and integrity are limited musts.

Men will be backed by a vigorous advertising campaign and every possible assistance is available then to earn a large income.

Work at present covers Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island, and later will be extended across the country.

We invite you to come and talk it over regardless of what you are now selling.

For your convenience, we will be open until 9 P. M. every day this week.

MEASURES THAT WOULD CURE MOST OF THE TROUBLES AND TENDENCIES WHICH DISTRESS AND ALARM US TODAY

(1) To nominate for the Presidency by direct nomination and to elect by popular vote.
(2) To elect the Cabinet officers and make them responsible to Congress.
(3) To deprive the President of the power of patronage; to put all public offices as nearly as possible under Civil Service, and have appointments made by a committee of Congress.
(4) To elect Federal Judges, including the Supreme Court Justices, by popular vote.
(5) To apply the Initiative, the Referendum and the Recall to national matters.

Aviation Policy of Congress Justly Scored by Daniels

Secretary of the Navy Daniels tells the country that Congress has failed in its duty by making an inadequate appropriation for naval air service. The Republican leader of the National House has boasted of reducing the naval appropriations by one hundred and thirty-nine million dollars.

It is a stupid boast. Secretary Daniels declares that, as a matter of fact, it is merely postponing the appropriation until after election, and that the only result will be, not to give the Republican party credit for economy, but to impair the efficiency of our navy.

No one can doubt the soundness of Secretary Daniels' criticism of Congress for this failure. Probably the most important branch of our naval service is the aircraft service. At least the most important branch of the service necessary now to develop is the air service.

The Panama Canal was built at huge expense in order to avoid the necessity of having two navies, one on the Pacific and the other on the Atlantic coast. If that canal were destroyed during the war our navy would either be split in two, and, therefore, be only half its strength, or the Pacific or Atlantic coast would be wholly unguarded. Against modern development of bombing from aircraft, the most approved engineering defense works and the heaviest ground guns would be useless. The Panama Canal would be exposed to a fatal attack from the air by aircraft having bases anywhere among the islands of the Caribbean Sea, or anywhere for hundreds of miles along the extended and crooked line of Central and South America.

The only defence at all adequate for the canal against the aircraft attack must be by aircraft.

Moreover, with the development of aircraft fighting as an adjunct of naval operations, the most elaborate coast forts and the heaviest guns would be quite useless against a combined attack at sea accompanied by aircraft and ships. Our coast defenses must, therefore, be supplemented by adequate aircraft defense. We have the longest coast line in the world to defend and with more cities vulnerable to joint naval and aircraft attack than any other of the great nations. Therefore, our aircraft service ought to be the greatest and most efficient, rather than as it is now, the least in power and efficiency.

Secretary Daniels is doing great service to his country in resisting the temptations before a national election to cheese-pare our national defense to its great impairment for the petty object of deceiving the people just before they vote. In this respect he set an example to the Republican majority in Congress which they had neither the sense nor the patriotism to follow.

Nothing Gained by Repeating Lies About Russia

One of our neighbor newspapers publishes a story to the effect that a certain young woman married in Russia in order to avoid being forcibly married to one of the Russian officials, or being "nationalized."

We had thought that this absurd, disgusting lie, which never had the slightest basis of fact, but was part of that myriad of slanders manufactured about Russia by those who wanted to create a public sentiment that would tolerate the grossest injustice by the governments of the world toward the Russian people was long ago cast in the discard. But there was a time, perhaps, when the universal repetition of this wretched falsehood and the inability of the Russians to answer it, because our government would not allow the Russian people's story to be told here, did justify the belief in the story by credulous people. Even then, however, intelligent people ought not to have believed it.

Professor Ross of the University of Wisconsin, one of our leading American educators, after travelling twenty thousand miles in Russia, wrote a book in which he declared that if the American women could trade some of the superficial chivalry which our men show them for the real equality they enjoy in Russia, they would make the best bargain imaginable.

There is plenty of room for violent differences of opinion concerning the revolutionary experiment the Russian people are now making. But, nothing is gained by lying about them. Those who dislike the experiment lose by misrepresentation because they make those who are neutral believe when there is something good in the experiment that its opponents find themselves obliged to lie rather than to tell the truth about it.

The experiment itself is so contrary to American traditions and American habit of thought that the plain truth without attempting to declare it immoral would be sufficient to cause the vast majority of our people to repudiate it for America. But it is not for us to say that it is wrong for Russia or bad for the Russian people, and above all things it is not for us to lie about it.

Administration Is Alone to Blame for Sugar Prices

Americans are familiar with the strange arguments political exigencies and partisanship produce. But we have not seen in a long time anything quite so absurd as the statement of the minority of the Sugar Investigating Committee that George Holden Tinkham of Boston is partially responsible for the high price of sugar, because he called to the country's attention the situation in respect to sugar.

The Democratic administration is alone responsible, so far as political misfeasance and nonfeasance is responsible, for the price of sugar. Attorney-General Palmer's deal with the Louisiana sugar men, the failure of President Wilson to secure the Cuban crop which was offered to him at a relatively nominal price, and which the food experts urged him to take and which he failed to take because his head was in the clouds that surround the League of Nations and his feet were stumbling around without guidance, breaking and displacing our things domestic.

Mr. Tinkham, far from being responsible for the price of sugar, rendered a public service in denouncing the price and those who were responsible.

Outlook for Wholesalers in Cutting of Prices

By Roger W. Babson

THE wholesaler, naturally, has been watching the retailers' prices continue to drop with a great deal of apprehension. His prosperity depends upon the prosperity of the retailer. He cannot sell goods unless the retailer sells them.

The change in the buying attitude of the public has hit him as hard as it has the retailer, the only difference being that he gets the reaction second hand.

We are all familiar with the so-called spree of speculation and the orgy of spending which has been going on since the armistice. The demand for goods has been tremendous. As this demand has increased, prices have risen.

More Money Needed

To carry on this new business an increased amount of money has been needed. We have gone merrily along until we have reached the top rung of the ladder of inflation. The Federal Reserve System has been stretched to the limit and it begun to look as though the whole structure would topple with a crash.

The inevitable reaction has set in. Unfortunately, it has started with the consumer and is working down through our business structure instead of having started with the bottom and working up through. The final result will be the same. In both cases it will work its hardship in one class and then another until it has run its pace and gone through our whole industrial system.

Difficult Position

The wholesaler at present is in a more difficult position than the retailer. The buying attitude of the public has turned. People have decided that they will no longer pay the high prices that have been prevalent for the last year. This means that retailers cannot do a normal business again until they can sell at reduction prices. In turn, this means that the retailer cannot buy from the wholesaler until he in turn can sell to them at a reduced price.

The wholesaler must get his goods from the manufacturer and there has been very little reduction so far in manufacturers' prices. The wholesaler is beginning to feel a squeeze. He is also facing other serious troubles.

Money is Tight

To begin with, money is very tight and he is having trouble to get enough to finance the purchase of goods that he must necessarily carry. Banks are clamoring for a reduction in his loans, and the retailers are cutting down their buying so that he has very little opportunity to get any money to reduce his loans. Furthermore, he is having transportation difficulties. He cannot get cars to move goods from his warehouse to the retailers. He cannot get cars to move goods from the manufacturer to his warehouse. He is having orders cancelled constantly because he cannot deliver.

This means that his merchandise is being held up at various terminals and that he cannot get it off his hands anywhere near as promptly as he should.

If the buying attitude of the public continues in its present vein, the people stand pat and refuse to buy goods at the retailers' prices, it means that business will be practically stagnant until first the retailers and then the wholesalers are forced to reduce their prices in order to get money to meet their maturing obligations.

In Bad Position

The wholesaler is not in an enviable position. If he has been wise he has read the handwriting on the wall before this and has reduced his stock to a minimum so that he is in a position to weather a period of bad business without serious consequences.

If he is not in such a position he should certainly set his house in order as promptly as possible by reducing stock to a minimum and getting his finances adjusted so that he will not be forced to sacrifice unreasonably in case price conditions follow those present trend.

Ye TOWNE GOSSIP

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

By K. C. B.

CHICAGO, June 10.

WHEN I went
TO GET my ticket,
THAT WOULD give me admittance.
TO THE Coliseum,
I MADE the discovery
THAT I'M not a reporter.
BUT A sergeant-at-arms,
WHICH IN a convention,
IS JUST a policeman,
AND HE hasn't a seat,
AND THE real policeman,
PUTS HIM out of the aisles,
AND MAKES him keep moving,
AND IT looks to me,
AS THOUGH the convention,
WAS HALF made up,
OF SERGEANTS-at-arms,
AND WE walk around,
AND RUN into each other,
AND TRAMP on each other,
AND PUSH each other,
AND SAY unpleasant things,
AND TWO or three times,
ON THE very first morning,
THERE WAS almost a fight,
BETWEEN SERGEANTS-at-arms,
AND I was much worried,
BECAUSE I was sore,
AND WANTED to fight,
AND IT wouldn't be right,
BECAUSE I have a commission,
AS A sergeant-at-arms,
AND MY duty would be,
TO STOP any fight,
THAT MIGHT happen along,
AND ONE of my troubles,
IS A little old guy,
ABOUT EIGHTY years old,
WHO'S A sergeant-at-arms,
AND HE lagged on to me,
AND WHEREVER I go,
HE FOLLOWS along,
AND HE'S so very small,
AND SO much withered,
THAT HE can't stand up straight,
WHEN HE wears his badge,
AND HE'S a little bit dippy,
AND HAS an idea,
THAT A sergeant-at-arms,
IS ENTITLED to vote,
AND I don't know his name,
BUT SOMEBODY has asked me,
TO LOOK after him,
AND I said I would,
AND, OF course, I will,
AND WHAT with him,
AND THE real policemen,
WHO ALWAYS keep chasing,
THE SERGEANTS-at-arms,
IT LOOKS to me,
AS THOUGH this convention,
WOULD BE the busiest one,
THAT I ever attended,
AND THE only rest,
THAT I got,
WAS DURING the prayer,
BECAUSE THEY let us stand still,
WHILE THE minister prayed,

I THANK you.

Letters to the Editor

Government Clerks' Pay

Editor Boston American:

I notice that the Boston American supported the postal clerks in their petition for an increase in wages. Do you not think that civil service clerks in general are entitled to an increase in pay? For example, here at Newport, R. I., there are many clerks who are receiving only $3.68 a day; many are returned service men who have seen service in Germany and who, previous to the war, served as government clerks for five years or more—still these men and many others are refused an increase in pay even as low as twenty-four cents per diem. There are very few who have received any increase in two years, while other wages have been steadily climbing, also the cost of living.

A POORLY PAID GOVERNMENT CLERK.

The Iron Hand

Editor Boston American:

I would like to say a few words in reference to the Irish question. Wasn't it well for the poor Belgium children that they were not under the government of England when all the fine ladies of this country were fainting because of the cruel treatment given them at the hands of the German soldiers? Where are those kind ladies today? They would not lend a kind word or hand to the poor women and children of Ireland that are being crushed by the British.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if the Harvard presidents would tell some of the history of "Our Queen Ann" when she ordered her troops to cut the breasts off the Irish mothers so that they could not nurse their babies, or even reveal some of King Edward's history when he said he would rule Ireland with an iron hand. He must have left his iron hand to Premier Lloyd George. In regards to some of the remarks that have been made when collecting money for the Irish cause, why didn't they cast those slurs when we were buying Liberty Bonds, helping the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A. and loaning our millions to England? We were not huns or cannibals then when we were giving the money to England to nail the coffins of the Irish people. Thank you.

MARY O'CONNOR.

Shows His Grit

Editor Boston American:

If the people who are complaining of the struggle for a living could see the young man who takes the escalator at the South Station subway every morning they would cease to complain.

He has both legs amputated and gets about on a diminutive pair of crutches. He seems to take his misfortune lightly, and on the Elevated officials say that he always has a smile and a pleasant word for them. Morning and evening, rain or shine, he travels to and from his place of work. As one man remarked:

"All the courage is not shown on the field of battle." The able-bodied workers should be ashamed to complain when this young man, although handicapped, can earn his living and be always pleasant.

AN ADMIRER OF GRIT.

The Speed Demon

"It seems a great pity that the pleasures of motoring should be wilfully sacrificed for speed. To be carried on a magic carpet of Bagdad over fairyland, haste should be—no, must be—discountenanced for, to the slave of mileage there is no fairyland. With one eye upon the speedometer and the other glued to the ruts, one becomes a wonderful driver and a common mucker and all the glories of a nature-painted paradise are so much engine hum and exhaust smirt." This is the perfect characterization of the complete speeder, offered by Chester L. Saxby as the prelude to an amusing exposition of a perfect day in the life of one of these road burning indecencies, set forth in the June issue of Motor.

GARRETT P. SERVISS' ARTICLE

By Garrett P. Serviss

"In a discussion concerning the reason why buttermilk is whiter than milk, my father says it is because there is more water in buttermilk, causing a greater reflection of light, while I believe the reason is that after the butter is taken away no substance remains that is not white.—D. A. F."

NEITHER of you appears to have considered the underlying question, which is: What makes a substance look white or colored? That being answered first, the solution of your problem becomes obvious. Your father's explanation touches upon the key to the enigma when he speaks of the "greater reflection" caused, he supposes, by the increased proportion of water in the buttermilk.

Your suggestion, too, has its element of truth, for the fatty substance constituting the butter is of a yellowish color, and after it is removed there is left only uncolored, or white, particles suspended in the liquid.

But the water does not reflect the light in such a way as to impart whiteness to the mass; it is the floating particles themselves which do that. You will observe that if the buttermilk is freed from the solid, or semi-solid, substances disseminated through it the remaining liquid assumes a bluish tint, as in skim milk.

Blue Rays Are Shortest

This bluish tint is due to the scattering of the shortest (i. e. the blue) waves of light by extremely minute solid particles still remaining in the liquid, and is, in that way, a humble and homely brother phenomenon to the blue sky, for the color of the sky arises from a similar scattering of the short light-waves by individually invisible particles dispersed through the air.

What has just been said of the effect of very small reflecting particles in producing a blue color by selective scattering of the short blue waves introduces us to the solution of the enigma of whiteness, which becomes very striking when, for instance, a pane of colorless, transparent glass, being ground to powder, appears as a perfectly opaque, white mass.

In like manner, water allows light to pass through it without reflection except when the observer's line of sight meets its surface at a particular angle, when it flashes off the light like a mirror. But if the mass of water is agitated into foam, it appears white and opaque, like the powdered glass.

Color Due to Reflection

Now, go back to the cream-colored milk, the white buttermilk and the yellow butter. Each of them owes its color to the manner in which it reflects the various light-waves. If the object appears white the effect is due to its reflection of all the wave-lengths together, for white is the resultant of the combination of all of them. But each wave length of light, when separated from the others, produces a color effect of its own.

The shortest waves make blue and violet light. Those of a little greater length produce the effect which we call green. Increase the length again and you have yellow. Increase it once more and the result is orange, and with a still greater increase of length the color becomes red.

If the length surpasses that associated with the production of red light you get no light or color at all. The eye ceases to be affected. So at the other end of the "spectrum," if the waves are shorter than those producing the sensation of violet, the eye sees nothing at all; but the photographic plate continues to see by "light" to which the eye is blind.

If any object reflects all the waves it appears white. If it reflects none, but absorbs all, it appears black, or, in itself, becomes invisible and can only be perceived by contrast with reflective surfaces. Finally, if it appears red, yellow, green, blue or any other color, the cause is that, owing to some peculiarity of its surface, or of its molecular constitution, it absorbs all the wave-lengths except that in whose color it appears. If it reflects only red waves it will be red; if it reflects two or more kinds of waves, and absorbs the others, it will have a combination hue.
